UNIVERSITY OF DESERET.

~~~~~
ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT.

In the year 1850, Feb. 28th, there was passed, by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Deseret, An Act Incorporating The University of the State of Deseret.

The Board of Regents of the Institution held their first meeting March 13th of the same year, and, on the second Monday of the following November, opened the Institution for the reception of Students.

Owing, however, to the immature condition of its finances, the school was soon discontinued; and subsequently, till November, 1867, had but a nominal existence.

In the fall of 1867, the Department of Instruction was reorganized, but conducted chiefly as a Commercial College, till the 8th of March of the present year, when it was more fully organized as an Institution for Scientific and Classic Instruction.

Since its recent organization, it has met with popular and material success; and, with such encouragement, it is the determination of the officers of the Institution to make it supply as a Central University, every educational requirement of our prosperous Territory.

~~~~~
COURSES OF STUDY.
 ~~~~~

Instruction in the University will be given in four courses:

A CLASSICAL COURSE:

Which will embrace all the studies usually found in the most approved colleges and universities.

A NORMAL COURSE:

Which will include not only studies commonly found in a similar course in other institutions, but also the studies of a scientific course.

The object of this course is to furnish an opportunity for persons wishing to become professional teachers, except in the department of languages, to prepare themselves, and, at the same time, obtain a liberal scientific education.

It does not embrace the ancient languages, and thus gives time for pursuing the modern.

It is also well designed for others, who wish to pursue a course independent of studies purely didactic.

Such studies may be omitted, if in lieu of them the German and French be taken.

A COMMERCIAL COURSE.

This department will be devoted to teaching the principles, forms and practice of business life.

It will embrace the theory and practice of Book Keeping in all its forms.

A PREPARATORY COURSE:

The design of which is to prepare students for entering the College Classes, and will embrace, in addition to the common English branches, a preparatory course in Latin and Greek.

Model School.

In connection with the Normal department of the University, will be established a Model School for the reception of primary pupils, and all who are not able to enter any of the University courses.

It is designed ultimately to embrace three departments: a Primary Department, an Intermediate Department, and a High School, and will prepare students for entering immediately the College Classes, and thus exclude the necessity of the present preparatory course.

Apparatus.

The University has, as yet, but a limited amount of Apparatus, but complete sets of Mathematical, Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus will be produced as soon as practicable.

Chemistry.

In the Department of Chemistry, the theoretical and practical principles of the science will be fully exhibited.

Thorough instruction will be given in Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis and Metallurgy, with Laboratory Practice. Attention, also, will be given to Agricultural Chemistry and Assays.

Cabinet.

The Cabinet of the University, is yet in embryo, containing but a small collection of a few hundred specimens; yet, it is designed to increase it until it shall fully represent the Mineralogical and Geological Formations of our Territory, its Entomological Life and its Flora, and thus form a valuable adjunct to illustration in the department of Natural History.

Aid is solicited from the friends of the University in different parts of the Territory, and also from missionaries and others in different parts of the world to assist in collecting such Specimens of Value and Curiosity as they can obtain.

A Literary Journal will be established in connection with the institution to which all the Students will be required to contribute.

Admission.

—0—

The Institution is open to both sexes. Students will be admitted at any time, but it is desirable that they should begin with the commencement of a term.

Modern Languages.

—0—

In the department of Modern Languages, every effort will be made to render them practical.

So far as possible they will be made the medium of communication between the Professor and his Classes.

Attendance.

A daily account is kept of all the Students in such a way as to afford a full exhibit of their habits in regard to attendance, regularity and punctuality in their duties. This exhibit will be sent to the parents or guardians of each Student when desired.

Library.

The foundation of a valuable library of the University is established, to which, under proper regulations, all the Students may have access.

Military and Physical Discipline.

Companies for military discipline, under the immediate training of one of the Faculty, will be organized among the young men of the University.

This course, it is believed, were it adopted by all the Schools throughout the Country, would create an important element in the security of our peace and progress.

By such early and general training we would soon become a nation of intelligent citizen soldiers.

Regular exercises will also be given in Calisthenics and Gymnastics.

Elective Studies.

Of the extra branches of study, German and French may be substituted for those didactic studies in the Normal Course marked (elective) by those not wishing to prepare themselves specially for teachers.

Hebrew may be substituted for Latin and Greek in certain portions of the Classical Course.

Literary Societies.

Literary Societies will be found among the attractive and beneficial features of the University.

They will be organized among the Students, and have for their objects a theoretical and practical training in Oratory, Debate, Declamation, Composition and Parliamentary Rule and Order.

Examinations.

A public examination of the different classes will be made by the Faculty at the close of each of the first two terms; and, at the close of the last term of the year, by a Committee selected by the Board of Regents.

Graduation.

Students completing the Classical Course will receive a Diploma and the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Those completing the Normal and Scientific Course will receive a diploma, and the degree of Bachelor of Science. Those completing the Commercial Course will receive a diploma with appropriate honors.

EXTRA SESSION.

The University will hold an Extra Session of six weeks immediately after the close of the last term of the year, for the special accommodation of teachers and others, who, by their engagements, may be deprived of the privilege of attending all the regular terms of the Institution.

The Session will open July 25th.
